Antibody testing allows the determination of someone's immunity status after contracting COVID-19 and whether someone may have acquired immunity to the virus based on the presence of IgM/IgG antibodies.

IgG antibodies are produced by the body's immune system approximately ten days after infection and can stay in the system as long as 12 weeks, even after the virus is gone.

The Antibody Rapid Test will show precise results* within 15 minutes.

Administer the test at home or office with no need to be sent to a laboratory for processing.

25 tests per box and an 18-month expiration date allow you to monitor your organization's exposure multiple times.
